Announcement

Tammy Bove Retirement

After dedicating 30 years of exemplary service to John Deere, Tammy Bove has made the decision to retire. Her final day in the office will be November 14, 2025.

Tammy's distinguished career began in 1995 when she joined John Deere as a Marketing Representative at the Dallas Sales Branch. Over the following three decades, she progressively took on greater responsibilities, serving in roles such as Customer and Product Support, Product Specialist, and Territory Manager. Tammy's leadership extended to her tenure as Division Sales Manager, where she oversaw operations across Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. She later became the Production System Marketing Manager, successfully spearheading go-to-market strategies for Production and Precision Agriculture. Most recently, Tammy held the position of Director, Tactical Marketing for Small Ag and Turf.

Throughout her three decades at John Deere, Tammy achieved numerous milestones. She played a pivotal role in supporting dealers and customers, strengthening their businesses through the company's products and services. While serving as Division Sales Manager, Tammy led mergers and acquisitions for 75% of the dealers in her sales division within a single year. Beyond her business success, Tammy was a mentor to many colleagues and consistently advocated the importance of "doing the right thing," especially during challenging circumstances.

Following her retirement, Tammy will continue living in Bandera, Texas, with her husband Frank, who is also set to retire in December. They anticipate spending more time gardening, raising cows and horses, and engaging in volunteer work with Team Rubicon USA. Additionally, in 2026, Tammy will begin serving as Chair for Women for OSU, contributing to the future of Oklahoma State University through philanthropy and engagement.

Please join me in expressing gratitude to Tammy for her significant contributions to John Deere. We extend our best wishes for her health and happiness as she enters this new chapter of retirement.

Sincerely,
Alex Sayago
Vice president, Marketing and Shared Services
